Section 1: Commitment to Serve <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Assessment data</li> <li>Non-cognitive data</li> <li>Causes and contributing factors</li> <li>Strategy selection</li> </ul>		Doss High School has a high percentage of novice learners on all EOC's and KPREP assessments. Doss High School has fully implemented career academies and project-based learning for the 2017-2018 school year. Project-based learning (PBL), cross-curricular collaboration, and career academy community partnerships are all components to reducing the number of novice learners. Freshman Academy teachers will participate in a district professional development on teaming and cross-curricular PBL. Also, resource teachers will participate in the PBL Ohio Institute in July to deepen their learning with PBL. Project-Based Learning (PBL) is a proven strategy to engage students in meaningful learning in academic, technical, and career readiness knowledge and skills. PBL is grounded in research that shows the importance of learning concepts in meaningful contexts and the key role of social interactions in learning (Barron &amp; Darling-Hammond, 2008, and Bransford, Brown, &amp; Cocking, 1999). In a meta-analysis of more than 80 studies of PBL, compared to alternative teaching methods, PBL holds its own on standardized tests of academic knowledge and outperforms lecture-based approaches on other kinds of outcomes (Walker &amp; Leary, 2009). Students from problem-based classes showed significant differences in problem-solving skills and the ability to apply them to real-world dilemmas than students in traditional classes (Finkelstein, Hanson, Huang, &amp; Hirschman, 2009; Walker &amp; Leary, 2009). Problem- and inquiry-based learning also results in high levels of student engagement (Belland, Ertmer, &amp; Simmons, 2006; Brush &amp; Saye, 2008). Overall, studies on the benefits of PBL have shown that compared to other instructional methods, PBL enhances students' learning by fostering higher-order thinking, problem-solving,

		collaboration skills, and the ability to engage in and comprehend complex processes (Ravitz, 2009). One of the key components of project based learning is having students present their work to an authentic audience in the community with the guidance and feedback from a teacher. This final portion of the PBL instruction is vital and incredibly valuable for both the students, their families, and the surrounding community.

The funds will be used to pay teachers for their after school instructional time with students. Teachers will instruct, coach, and provide feedback to students as they present their year-long work in a community exhibition. The final and pivotal component of Project-Based Learning instruction is presenting to an authentic audience. The work is sustainable because Doss High School teachers, administrators, and support staff will be enhancing the content knowledge of students, their presentation skills, and increasing family / community involvement with Doss High School. There will be approximately 70 teachers that will be instructing students for 2.5 hours on the evening of May 16, 2018. 3-Year SIG (2015-2018) "Resource Teacher-Other" to "Other Certified Workshops" 1002227-011038-460A ($6,000) to 1002170-011327-460A
